

10/26/23

Dear brethren,

That's be to God, the Giver and Sustainer of life. Hopefully all is well with you, your individual families and the Church. Southeast School of Bible (SESBS) remains grateful for your unflinching support.

We are yet to resume class because of some minor problems. The light has been restored and the water system remains an hindrance; which will be managed somehow by getting water on campus in container until solution is found.

If you can recall, we embarked on water project but the water got dry in the well. Therefore we have to redo another well. However, this cannot delay the resumption of class. Classes begin on the 31st of this month (October).

As previously reported, we have reinstated Saturday classes to afford opportunity to working individuals to learn God's Word. Thanks to those who have already made contribution to our proposed administration building.

Keep us in your prayers as we also pray for y'all. May God bless you richly.

Daniel Sackey

DIRECTOR
SESBS